'OUT OF CONTROL' DOG MAY STRIKE AGAIN, FEAR PAIR

Couple want animal put down after their pet is mauled

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

A COUPLE whose dog was badly injured in an unprovoked attack are worried the "out of control" culprit could strike again.

Stony Wood residents Neil and Jane Allen, both 48, are unsatisfied with the response of Essex Police after their beagle-pug cross was badly wounded for a second time by the same dog on Thursday, July 9.

Police said a community resolution had been agreed between the Allens and the other owner, that the Terrier-type dog that carried out the attack must be kept on a lead.

Dragged

Four-year-old dog Mackenzie was dragged, shaken and suffered a punctured neck when he was attacked outside the Allens' home at the end of a walk with family friend Andrea Oakley and her daughter Olivia.

He has now recovered after receiving treatment from a vet for the second time in the space of a few months.

Mrs Allen said: "I was out in my garden when I heard the scuffle, and I was horrified, annoyed and angry. The dog had its jaw around the neck of my dog, and it was a struggle to force her [the other dog] off."

The attacking dog was not with its owner and it is thought it escaped from its home.

HORRIFYING: The dog attack in Stony Wood was captured on CCTV

Mrs Allen now fears for the safety of children in the area.

"It needs to be put down because it is dangerous," said Mrs Allen.

"I'm worried for the sake of children who are walking past. I don't think a dog like that should be walking round the streets of Harlow."

"All the police have done is made a community order and I don't feel that is sufficient."

An Essex Police spokeswoman said: "The matter has been handled through a community resolution that both parties signed up to. The resolution advised the man with the offending dog to keep it on a lead."

VICTIM: Four-year-old Mackenzie has now recovered from his ordeal

Expect big delays as busy road will be shut

MOTORISTS could be significantly delayed as one of Harlow's busiest sections of road is set to close for improvements.

The installation of a new mini-roundabout to replace traffic lights at the Southern Way - Tawneys Road junction will see a key section of the road shut.

Businesses on Bush Fair and motorists travelling to the M11 will be affected by the complete closure of Tawneys Road and partial closure of Southern Way, between Tysea Road and Tillwicks Road, for the duration of the work.

Works to install the seventh mini-roundabout within a 0.8 mile stretch of Southern Way will begin on Sunday, July 26 and are scheduled to finish on Monday, August 17.

Closed

The section of Southern Way will be closed only between 4pm-5.30am for the duration.

Commonside Road and Tendring Road are likely to be used by commuters in a bid to bypass the works.

A spokesman from Essex Highways said: "May I apologise in advance for any inconvenience or disruption caused. Access for residents will be maintained as is reasonably practical, however some delays may occur."

Chris Lewis-Smith from Harlow's Hub and Spoke, a cycling business in Bush Fair, said: "From a cycling perspective it is a difficult junction as we're at the mercy of motorists."

"The new mini-roundabout does not take the cycle path into account and could be considered quite dangerous. I have got to look three ways and make a mad dash for it."

"It might be better than the current traffic lights, but a proper crossing would be better still for pedestrians and cyclists."

Charity fun day raises money for cancer unit

WINNERS: Essex Bathrooms and Kitchens raised £1,300 with their fun day and football match. Pictured above are the winners of the match

A RAFFLE and football tournament raked in more than £1,300 for charity at the Essex Bathrooms and Kitchens fun day.

All proceeds were donated towards the upkeep of the Williams Day Unit, the cancer treatment hub at Princess Alexandra Hospital in Harlow.

Held on Sunday, July 19, at Harlow's The Link in Parsloe Road, the fun day's raffle contained top prizes of a television and Xbox as well as the best products available from the Wych Elm bathroom and kitchen store.

Gavin Dangerfield, manager of Essex Bathrooms and Kitchens, said: "The football tournament was won by Parsloe Vets and the raffle alone raised £580, with other local businesses generously donating money towards it. This is our first fun day, but it was such a success we'll make it an annual event."

GP surgeries are 'among the worst'

NHS survey finds patient satisfaction is low

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

FOUR GP surgeries in Harlow score poorly for patient satisfaction according to the results of NHS survey.

The figures on the NHS Choices website show the percentage of patients, who said they would recommend the surgery.

Addison House, The Hamilton Practice, Church Langley Medical Practice and The Practice Osler House were all ranked 'among the worst' performing when pitted against the results of surgeries from across the UK.

The Practice Osler House in Potter Street was the worst performing in terms of patient satisfaction with just 46.3 per cent of patients asked saying they would recommend the service.

Addison House clocked a below-par 51 per cent figure of respondents happy to recommend it.

The Hamstel Road GP also only achieved a one star rating from reviewers on the website.

The Hamilton Practice in Bush Fair and Church Langley Medical Practice fared slightly better - clocking scores of 61 per cent and 63.1 per cent respectively.

Patients of all four surgeries were vocal in their discontentment when commenting on the Star Facebook page.

User Nicola Humphreys said she found receptionists "intrusive" when she tried to get an appointment at Church Langley.

"Addison House doctors are the worst," added disgruntled patient Carla Budd.

While Craig Juhas wrote: "I'm at Hamilton Practice and I find the people who work there very friendly and helpful, my only criticism is the ridiculous waiting time for an appointment."

At the other end of the scale was Nuffield House Health Clinic and Old Harlow Health Centre, with scores of 92.1 per cent and 91 per cent respectively, being Harlow's only surgeries in the 'good' category.

Ranking between 71 and 85 per cent, Harlow's other four centres all ranked in the middle 'ok' category.

Despite the varying satisfaction scores, the results also showed all the clinics to have an electronic prescription service, to be accepting new patients and to have facilities to book appointments online and order repeat prescriptions online.

Alastair McIntyre, an NHS spokesman, said: "It is always a concern when our GPs are rated poorly however NHS Choices only offers a small snapshot of information. For example Addison House Surgery has 22 responses but a patient list of almost 14,000."

"We are working with all of our GP practices to improve patient waiting times. A big challenge remains the number of people booking appointments and failing to attend."

Bridge set to close from Monday for replacement

A WEAKENED road bridge spanning the River Lee near Harlow is to be reconstructed from Monday as it can no longer support heavy vehicles.

Essex Highways structural engineers will rebuild the Fish and Eels Bridge, which carries Dobbs Weir Road between Harlow and Hoddesdon, as it can no longer support heavy vehicles.

Work is scheduled to start on Sunday, July 27, and is expected to be complete by the end of January 2016.

A new permanent footbridge will be built on the south side of the bridge and a footpath will be provided on the north side.

Essex County Council's cabinet member for highways and transportation, Cllr Rodney L Bass, said: "Structural surveys have clearly shown the ironwork supporting Fish and Eels Bridge has corroded to the extent that it has become dangerous for vehicles to cross it, especially commercial vans and trucks."

"Clearly we need to maintain the safety of everyone who needs to use it."

The reconstruction project will require Dobbs Weir Road to be closed to vehicles for the duration, although access for local residents and businesses will be maintained throughout.

A signed diversion will direct drivers onto sections of Essex Road, Charlton Way, High Road, Station Road, Nazeing New Road, North Street and Sedge Green, while a temporary footpath will be provided for pedestrians and cyclists.

Boats will be allowed to use the River Lee and canal during the construction programme, however an occasional closure of the canal may be required for safety reasons.

Cllr Bass, added: "Inevitably, projects of this kind will lead to disruption and longer journey times, but it is very necessary work and will serve to maintain our highways to the highest possible standard."

For more information about the plans contact Essex Highways at www.essexhighways.org.

Council to refurbish 12 derelict traveller pitches

Extensive upgrade works are expected to cost £628,000

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

UP to a dozen derelict pitches at the Fern Hill traveller site in Harlow could be brought back into use to meet Government guidelines.

The proposals, which also include refurbishing the current pitches, will cost £628,000. The work will be paid for by a combination of national funding and money from Harlow Council and Essex County Council.

Councillor Emma Toal, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for youth and community, said: "The Fern Hill site has been part of our town for many years but it has deteriorated and as a result now requires substantial investment."

"This is about working together with Essex County Council to refurbish derelict plots at an established permanent traveller site. This is to meet the projected need for pitches for travellers who choose to be part of the settled community."

Both councils are proposing to apply for national funding to rebuild 12 derelict pitches at the Fern Hill Lane site.

If a bid is successful, both councils will match fund the investment by allocating £70,000 each to upgrade existing pitches at the site.

Earlier this year, Harlow Council and Essex County Council were granted an interim injunction to prevent unauthorised camps from being set up on 454 'parcels' of land in the town.

Authorised

Cllr Toal added: "It is well-known that there is a lack of authorised pitches for travellers across the UK. For nearly 18 months Harlow experienced what can happen as a result of this issue not being addressed, when the town had 109 different unauthorised traveller encampments."

"When we go back to the High Court later this year about the injunction, it is important we demonstrate we are exploring every avenue to address the issue, and I hope other councils in Essex follow our example."

A report commissioned in 2014 by the Essex Planning Officers Association predicted that up to 2018 an extra 387 new authorised Gypsy and Traveller pitches are needed in Essex with a minimum of nine new pitches required in Harlow. The same assessment also predicts that an extra five new pitches will be needed in Harlow between 2018 and 2023.

The two permanent traveller sites in Harlow at Fern Hill Lane and Elizabeth Way are owned and managed by Essex County Council.

The Elizabeth Way site provides 21 pitches and the Fern Hill site has capacity for 24 pitches. Currently 12 pitches at Fern Hill are in use but 10 require extensive refurbishment and a further 12 pitches have been derelict and unused for more than 10 years. There are currently in excess of 30 families waiting for pitches on the Harlow sites.

Those living on authorised permanent local authority-run sites pay council tax, rent and utility bills.

Community

Councillor Roger Hirst, Essex County Council's cabinet member for customer services, libraries, planning and the environment, said: "Following the recent events in Harlow with unauthorised encampments, we are working closely in partnership with Harlow District Council to bring 12 derelict plots back on line to provide much needed homes for the gypsy/traveller community."

A report outlining the proposals is due to be discussed at tonight's (Thursday) Harlow Council cabinet meeting.

Motorway at heart of town

SIR The horror expressed by those who attended the display about the proposed route of the motorway to the new M11, junction 7A should be shared by the whole town.

If this grotesque waste of money goes ahead the town will forever have a motorway running through its heart. No other by-pass will ever be considered.

Our MP is now in the cabinet and this gives immense power, and he usually does good things for Harlow.

Sadly, on this occasion, on a really big issue for the town, Mr Halfon is supporting the proposed motorway route and is in denial of any other possibility, such as the obvious, but more expensive, northern by-pass.

I hope his constituents remember this when voting time comes around.

Ian Kennett
Felmongers, Harlow

Junction could distance area

SIR I am surprised that the residents of Church Langley have not seized the opportunity of promoting a new M11 junction to the north of that area with the road joining the A414 at the current roundabout entrance to Church Langley Way.

Not only would this bring relief to the current junction 7, but in the long term as Newhall is developed.

They would have their own bespoke junction befitting their undeclared independence from Harlow which they have often promoted in the letter pages of this paper.

Also the safer Harlow drivers can be assured that the 40mph limit will be adhered to in the knowledge that those driving at 70-80mph with fog lights blazing in broad daylight as they pass the Shell and BP garages are using that new intersection instead!

Who is running the council?

SIR Back in March a senior housing officer suspended all tenant panel meetings and housing services appointed a consultant to review tenant participation. On the 14 July involved tenants and leaseholders attended a meeting with the council's consultant and rejected her report as being anti-tenant and unprofessional, with many contradictions and mistakes.

In part it recommends that officers will run and chair tenant and leaseholder meetings and that in future, councillors will no longer be allowed to attend panel meetings. In my opinion this will remove the independence of participation, control involvement and stifle engagement. Since when can officers tell councillors what they can or cannot do?

This will be the second time, that the head of housing has shut down participation. Involved tenants have helped in recommending operational changes to boiler/heating and electrical works in the decent homes program and played a lead role in producing the terms of reference for the implementation of the Decent Homes, Modern Homes program and the Major Works Programme.

It was only after we evidenced shortcomings in the implementation of management, work quality, clerk of the works inspections and customer care against the decent homes terms of reference that some officers chose to engineer our involvement out of the engagement process.

So it seems that rather than fix the problem housing services stopped the tenant scrutiny and right of challenge that had identified the evolving problems in the first place and are going to take control of tenant participation, effectively shutting it down.

I have spoken to a number of our councillors about this and they seem to think that as they are not involved in housing it's not their problem. Some councillors work very hard for their residents, but now we need councillors that will stand up and hold our senior officers to account, I thought this was how democracy works.

Mike Carr
Rundells, Harlow

What really happened?

SIR The headline of your article about Michael Barrymore suing Essex Police for wrongful arrest (Star, June 9) referred to the 'pool death' of Stuart Lubbock. The caption under a photo of Barrymore mentioned the death of Stuart Lubbock in Barrymore's swimming pool and the article stated Stuart's body was "found in the star's swimming pool".

It's true that Barrymore and his associates claimed that Stuart was swimming in his pool in the early hours of Saturday, April 1 but the evidence suggests otherwise.

Stuart suffered a violent sexual assault that night which was the main cause of death. There are two other unarguable facts: that at 5.46am a call was made to Essex Ambulance Service and that when the ambulance staff arrived they found Stuart's body, clad only in boxer shorts, by the side of the swimming pool. The question is what happened before 5.46am?

The now-discredited pathologist who carried out the post mortem examination pronounced Stuart's death a drowning, but three other pathologists called in by the coroner said Stuart had died from a sexual assault, heart attack and asphyxia. An acknowledged expert in drowning was sure that Stuart had not drowned.

Another crucial line of evidence was whether or not anyone was in the swimming pool that evening. It was a cold April morning and, as was admitted at the inquest, the pool had never been opened all winter. There is evidence to suggest that the electrically-operated pool cover was only uncovered after Stuart had died.

Essex Police failed to perform a diatom test of the pool water which would have established conclusively whether anyone had been in the pool that night.

Another crucial fact was the temperature of the pool water. If the pool had only been opened up after Stuart died, it would have been cold.

Amazingly, Essex Police allowed Barrymore's manager, who was already at the scene, to provide evidence as to the pool temperature.

As the Independent Police Complaints Commission found in their 2008 report on the case: "To ask a member of the public to take the temperature of a pool under such circumstances is a failure to carry out an officer's duties conscientiously and diligently, contrary to the Code of Conduct".

There are those who know what happened that night. Now would be a good opportunity for those who, for whatever reason, have kept silent about that night's events to tell the police what really did happen.

They are not civil servants

SIR I would like to make a correction to the letter 'Tell us where our money is' by S Sadler (Harlow Star, July 16).

The people who work for Harlow Council are not civil servants. They work for the local government and are local government officers.

"A civil servant or public servant is a person in the public sector employed for a government department or agency" according to Wikipedia.

So please do not refer to them as civil servants. They are not. They are employed by the local council and it is your council tax that helps to pay for the local council staff not taxes paid through your income. Civil servants are people employed at places like the tax office, customs and excise, job-centre's etc.

Remembering the heroism

SIR Throughout the summer, people across the country will be marking the 75th anniversary of the Battle of Britain.

As we recall those fateful days and celebrate the bravery of the airmen involved, we also remember our enduring debt of gratitude to all who serve or have served.

The RAF Benevolent Fund believes it is important for the country to share in the memory of that battle, which played out in the summer skies overhead and saw the heroism of The Few save Britain from invasion. We want to invite people across the UK to join us in showing their thanks for The Few.

That is why we are launching the RAF Benevolent Fund's inaugural Great British Sunday Lunch – a chance for families, friends, and communities to gather together on Sunday 13th September to host their own lunch, whether it be around the dining table or on a picnic rug in the late summer sun.

MILESTONE: Bill and Irene Beare moved from London to Harlow in the 1950s

HAPPY couple Bill and Irene Beare are reflecting on a life together in Harlow on their 65th wedding anniversary.

Married at All Hallows' Church, Tottenham on July 15 1950, the pair moved to Harlow in 1955.

Mr and Mrs Beare were married aged 22 and 18 respectively and now live together in Cooks Spinney aged 83 and 87.

The couple two children, four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs Beare said: "Harlow was a very nice town and the people back then were very kind."

"Everybody used to help each other and we all worked together - it was lovely."

While her husband worked for ambulance and security services, Mrs Beare was a staff member at Standard Telephones and Princess Alexandra Hospital.

"You've got to be very tolerant," she said of the key to a successful marriage. "You've learned to not be uptight and have a laugh."

The couple celebrated the milestone with a family meal.

Charity match for football fan David

Tributes paid to 'gentle giant' who died aged 29

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexnews.co.uk

FRIENDS and family are uniting for a charity football match in memory of "gentle giant" David Sweeney, who died aged 29.

Mr Sweeney, who attended Harlow College and worked as an electrician in the area, collapsed while walking his dog in Hatfield Heath on Thursday, July 16.

The football match and charity fun day will be held at The Link in Harlow on Sunday to celebrate his life.

Mr Sweeney leaves parents Sue, 58 and Danny, 60 with whom he lived on Cox Ley, in Hatfield Heath and sister Caroline, 30.

Caroline said: "He was a gentle giant and would have done anything for anyone."

"He always made us laugh, and knew so many people. There have been so many messages about David and that has helped us."

"We have been completely overwhelmed and it's nice to see that David meant so much to so many."

"It is really special that the fun day has been organised and it means a lot for us."

Mr Sweeney was a keen football fan and Tottenham Hotspur season ticket holder.

The charity match will feature former Big Brother contestants

GENTLE GIANT: David Sweeney died while walking his dog last week and ex-professional footballers.

Live music from Repertoire Dogs, an auction and children's activities will also be on offer with the aim of raising money for British Heart Foundation, Essex Air Ambulance and the building of a memorial bench.

Mr Sweeney studied at Birchwood High School in Bishop's Stortford and also enjoyed music, socialising and walking his dog.

His friend Aimee Charles, 27, who is co-organising the event with Kelly Bridges, said: "He was such a nice guy and we're really going to miss him. He was very kind and thoughtful."

"He used to make mix CDs for everyone and he would never drink on New Year's Eve so he could give everyone lifts home."

"We met at Harlow College and were friends for nine years."

Mr Sweeney is thought to have suffered a heart attack, although the official cause of death will not be known until a post-mortem has been carried out.

His funeral will be held on Friday, July 31 at Parndon Wood Crematorium in Harlow.

Work experience for highly-skilled jobs

AN initiative from Essex County Council is helping plug the gap of highly-skilled workers in the science, technology and engineering sectors.

Damning findings from a recent Confederation of British Industry report have revealed more than half of employers fear they will not be able to recruit enough high-skilled workers.

In an attempt to address this, four years ago, Essex County Council launched the Education and Industry STEM programme to directly target shortages in science, technology, engineering and mathematics.

Cllr Ray Gooding, Essex County Council Cabinet Member for Education and Lifelong Learning, said: "Our programme, which is being rolled out to 30 secondary schools across Greater Essex. We now have a pipeline of young students who are aspiring to careers in science, technology, engineering and maths."

Now Essex is reaping its rewards and businesses are being challenged to pledge 500 unique experiences of work by November 1 this year for these young people.

Suzanne Jude, chair of Essex Employment and Skills Board, said: "We urgently need more Companies to play their role in developing the workforce of the future and to offer these motivated young people an experience of work."

SO PLEASED: Staff and children at Schoolgate Nursery celebrate their new Ofsted rating

We've been framed, say arty pupils...

BUDDING Picassos celebrated their artistic achievement in the first ever school exhibition at Freshwaters Primary Academy.

Arty pupils put forward their best works which were framed by Images Stevenage and available for parents to view and buy.

While the prices were more affordable than a Sothebys auction, the art was cherished by parents who were especially happy to pay up in the knowledge that some of the money going into the school's coffers.

Fashion show with a big heart at college

STYLISH students lit up the catwalk and paraded the latest trends at Harlow College's Runway Fashion Show.

Cutting-edge garments designed by fashion students were paraded at the show, which was reported on by journalism students and promoted by media students.

College principal Karen Spencer said she was "proud" of her students' efforts.

"The work of our fashion students just gets more creative and professional each year," she said.

"They not only have the opportunity to work with top designers from both Diesel and Debenhams working on live briefs with industry experts, but also showcase their work at our annual show. This year we were proud that our show supported breast cancer research and was accompanied by an awareness-raising fashion collection."

The fashion students designed clothes based on different themes.

Fashion student Alexandra Terris, 18, said: "I've thoroughly enjoyed the past two years on the course as well as learning a huge amount about the fashion industry."

"Seeing my collection come down the catwalk was a very proud moment as it displayed all the skills I learnt over the past two years and all the hard work I put in."

See if you can guess the grade...

STAFF and students at a Harlow nursery are overjoyed with their new "outstanding" status following a recent Ofsted inspection.

Carters Mead-based Schoolgate Nursery was upgraded from their previous "good" rating following the inspection on June 19.

Manager Anita Parrish said: "We were very pleased and proud with the result."

"We have been making constant improvements and working very hard to improve ourselves."

The nursery was judged to be "outstanding" in three key areas.

Not 'SATs' on their laurels: Joy at new set of exam results

Primaries hail impressive performance

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

PRIMARY schools paid tribute to the hard work of students and staff after impressive Year 6 SAT results across Harlow.

All of the primary schools that released their results saw a large percentage of students achieve the benchmark Level Four grade for the end of year exams.

Children are expected to achieve Level Four in reading and mathematics before they leave for secondary school.

Vary

Schools vary in their choice of a third exam.

Freshwaters Primary Academy performed particularly impressively with 91 per cent of pupils achieving Level Four in mathematics just two years after failing an Ofsted inspection.

Meanwhile 94 per cent of students at Cooks Spinney secured the benchmark grade in mathematics, up from 74 per cent last year, while 98 per cent met the standard in reading, compared to 78 per cent last time.

Spinney, said: "These are the best ever results for us. We are up in all areas and progress is brilliant."

"The children have been amazing and worked so hard, while staff have worked tirelessly to get these results."

Purford Green Primary School performed above par with a result of 72 per cent across the board and Hare Street took three scores of 97 per cent for reading, mathematics and SPAG (spelling, punctuation and grammar).

Hare Street head Tim Voss said: "We are delighted with the hard work the children have put in and the fantastic results achieved, it was very impressive."

The results of Holy Cross, who scored 93 per cent for reading and mathematics, look even better when considering 57 per cent of students achieved reading at Level Five. Holy Cross pupils took the SPAG test and 87 per cent of pupils achieved a Level Four, 47 per cent a Level Five and one girl even achieved Level Six.

Year Six teacher Kirsty Noonan said: "I am unbelievably proud of them, their results were well above average."

Little Parndon also achieved good results with 89 per cent hitting the goal in reading and mathematics with Roydon Primary clocking an all-time high 92 per cent pass rate for reading, mathematics and science.

Suzanne Ryan, head of Katherine's, who did not disclose its results, said: "We are ecstatic, the results are well above expectation"

■ The Star approached all Harlow primary schools for their results.

Wife of top engineer pays visit to new college

THE wife of celebrated engineer Charles Kao, who invented fibre-optic technology in Harlow, was impressed when she visited the new college named after her husband.

Lady Gwen Kao shared her life experiences with students of the recently opened Charles Kao University Technical College and toured the town centre with some of the 14-19 year olds who study at the Velizy Avenue college.

Deputy principal Gareth Williams led Lady Kao to the blue plaque to commemorate her husband's achievements in Harlow's Water Gardens.

He said: "It was an honour to welcome Lady Kao to Sir Charles Kao UTC."

"I am pleased she enjoyed her visit and meeting our hard-working students and I would like to thank her for her kind donation of a signed memoir from Sir Charles."

The pair were married in 1959 and joined the Standard Telecommunications Laboratories in Harlow during the 1960s.

She is now a carer for Sir Charles, who was diagnosed with Alzheimer's disease in 2002.

Millionaires of a different kind here...

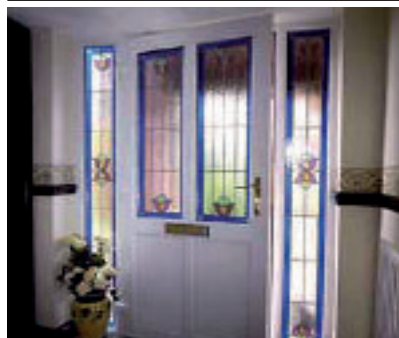

STUDENTS from Stewards Academy took part in their own version of Who Wants to be a Millionaire as part of a reading challenge.

Instead of answering quiz questions, students from Years Seven to Ten read for victory with each year aiming to read a combined one million words.

Collectively the school read more than 60 million words across 890 books which they logged and kept track on through a calculating application.

STOPPED: Checks carried out

Police make arrests and take vehicles in operation

THREE people were arrested when police stopped and checked more than 100 vehicles during a police operation in Harlow.

Operation Nash/Surround A Town involved officers from the Essex Police Casualty Reduction Unit carrying out roadside checks and mobile patrols around the town.

The operation was also part of Essex County Council's long-running No Excuse campaign to tackle motoring offences and raise awareness.

Offenders were identified by officers patrolling in cars or on motorcycles or through Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR) technology and vehicles were escorted to check sites at the M11 roundabout at Hastingwood and at Second Avenue.

Those arrested included a 42-year-old man from Bishop's Stortford, who was suspected of stealing a motor vehicle and causing criminal damage. He was bailed until August 25 pending further enquiries. A 22-year-old woman from Sussex was arrested on suspected of theft and bailed until September 14, and a 27-year-old man from Harlow was given a caution after admitting having an offensive weapon.

Two vehicles were seized for having no insurance and 25 vehicles were stopped for having invalid MOTs.

Twenty-nine people who were using mobile phones and 36 people who were not wearing seatbelts.

Three people were stopped for careless driving and four vehicles were found with defects.

Pupils at Passmores helped burn victims in Africa

William Mata

william.mata@hertssexnews.co.uk

A CHARITY is hoping to reunite a group of former Passmores Secondary School pupils with a burns victim they helped more than 15 years ago.

Children of Fire, co-founded by former journalist Bronwen Jones, helps young African people who have been scarred, disfigured and sometimes blinded in fires by sourcing medical treatment and providing education.

From 1997-2000 the former Tendring Road school, now renamed Passmores Academy, worked with the charity under the direction of then-English teacher Helen Gaize.

Mrs Gaize, 63, who left the school in 2002, said: "I am hoping to get former students re-involved. It would be wonderful if the compassion shown for these inspiring children was re-awakened so that more children could have more hope."

More than 450 children have been helped by the charity since CoF was set-up in 1997 when Mrs Jones found three-year-old Dorah Mokoena in a South African hospital.

She had severe burns that left her blind and without hands after being caught in her cot during a house fire. Mrs Jones adopted Dorah and she underwent extensive reconstruction surgery to give her lips and eyelids.

Dorah, now 21, is still very dependent on the care of Mrs Jones, with whom she lives in Pinner in north London.

Over the three year period Mrs Gaize and her students created a learning aid for Dorah who visited the school on several occasions.

But when Mrs Gaize left the school at the turn of the century the link came to an end. Now, after an out of the blue phone call from Mrs Jones, the pair are hoping to reunite Passmores alumni.

Mrs Gaize added: "A substantial amount of children in various year groups were involved and we were even on Sky News at one point."

"I would urge ex-students to look at the website and contact Bronwen if they would like to be involved once more."

"The children are in tremendous need of funding and support. Surgeons will often lend their skills for free but hospitals charge for the up-keeping of children who are not on the NHS."

"The experience was good for both the students, who learned about how children could live through different circumstances and also Dorah, to meet new people."

"It is easy to forget that behind the burns she is a young woman."

To find out more call Mrs Jones on 0208 868 2967 or email firechildrenuk@btinternet.com.

First organ donation decrease in more than 10 years

MORE than 50 Essex residents have died waiting for a transplant in the past five years as the number of people donating organs falls for the first time in a decade.

Figures published on Monday revealed that 58 Essex residents died waiting for a transplant in the past five years.

NHS Blood and Transplant is highlighting the figures as it publishes the annual Transplant Activity Report, which details organ donation and transplantation across the UK.

On average, three people in the UK die each day in need of an organ transplant. It is the first time in 11 years that donations have fallen.

Currently, four out of ten families do not give permission to donate when approached. The latest figures show that last year in Essex, 80 lives were saved or improved thanks to deceased donation.

In Essex, 31 people also benefited from a living donor transplant where donors gave a kidney or part of their liver.

NHS Blood and Transplant is asking people in Essex to join the Organ Donor Register and then tell their family and friends about their decision.

Sally Johnson, NHS Blood and Transplant's Director of Organ Donation and Transplantation, said: "We are truly grateful to the deceased donors who enabled 80 people in Essex to receive an organ transplant last year. Their donations have saved and improved lives."

To join visit www.organdonation.nhs.uk or call 0300 123 2323.

In brief

Choir pulls in pounds with charity evening

HARLOW: Harlow U3A Choir staged a highly successful concert on Sunday, raising nearly £2,000 for local charities.

The event, held at Burnt Mill Academy, attracted a near-capacity audience of around 200 and was also the choir's first major performance under the leadership of new musical director Gabrielle Hanley.

The afternoon's programme included a wide range of musical styles, ranging from African chants and British folk songs to religious pieces sung in Latin and songs from the shows. The finale was a selection of popular songs from the award-winning musical Les Miserables.

Mrs Hanley recruited singers from Broxbourne's Kaleidos Community Choir, which she also directs, to help swell the general sound and to add their own items to the programme. Piano accompaniment was provided by Ronald Morgan and Sally Kee.

Choir spokesman Garry Slark said: "We've worked really hard at rehearsals over the last few months and we're delighted all our hard work has paid off. And the fact that we managed to raise such a lot of money for two good causes in the process is very satisfying."

The proceeds from the concert will be divided between the Harlow branches of the Alzheimer's Society and Macmillan Cancer Support.

Join RSPB camp out

ESSEX: Next month's RSPB Big Wild Sleepout offers families and individuals a rare opportunity to spend the night in Essex's Rainham Marshes.

Now in its third year, the sleepout will give visitors the chance to discover night-time wildlife while raising money to protect them.

The camp out offers plenty of ways to join in from pitching a tent, building a shelter or simply watching the stars.

Booking is essential for the event which offers a twilight walk on Saturday, August 8 followed by a hearty full English in the morning.

The full programme of events runs from Friday, August 7, to Sunday, August 9, and cost £35 for adults and £22 for children.

Driver failed to stop after man's foot is run over

A 20-YEAR-OLD man suffered serious injuries to his foot after it was run over by a car that failed to stop.

Just after midnight on Saturday, July 11, a car was involved in a collision with a pedestrian on Fourth Avenue at the junction with Haydens Road close to The Square in Harlow.

The man, who is from Harlow, received a serious injury to his left foot after it was run over by a vehicle described as a green Vauxhall Corsa with white stripes over the roof and bonnet. This vehicle then failed to stop at the scene.

The victim's mother, who asked not to be named, appealed for anyone with information to get in touch with police as her son recovers at home.

She told the Star: "He is recovering at home but still very sore."

"I want people to think back to that night and if they remember anything or know of a car matching that description they should get in touch. Also if any local garages had a car come in for minor repairs or if you know the driver or are that driver, do the right thing and hand yourself in. Just imagine if it was your son or family member."

Anyone who witnessed the collision or who information about the vehicle, should call Pc Paul Marks on 101.

Cab office proposal sparks parking fears

Metro Cars want more business from commuters

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

RESIDENTS and traders fear a proposed minicab office near Harlow Town station could bring a busy road to a standstill.

Private hire firm Metro Cars has submitted plans for a new 24-hour office in half of the currently vacant Unit 3 of Mill Court.

The planning application states Metro Cars will claim 16 of the 105 parking spaces in Mill Court leaving neighbours feeling pushed out.

However owners of the taxi firm say they only intend to use four.

"The taxi rank will limit the amount of space that I have," said a 24-year-old resident of Mill Court, who asked not to be named. "If my mother was wanting to come round there won't be anywhere for her to park."

"Traffic is already slow getting in and out of the car park. It is not something we residents want and I certainly don't want it there."

"There is not enough space." A decision on whether the plans will be granted will be made by Harlow Council's development management committee.

In a submission to the council,

NEW OFFICE?
Metro Cars hope to open a 24-hour office one resident wrote: "There is a taxi rank at the station which adequately serves the public. The noise levels will increase, which will affect the residents of the flats in Mill Court and parking spaces for residents will be affected."

An online petition has also been launched against the plans, with 59 people adding their signature so far.

Metro Cars say they are committed to employing three full time and one part time staff if the plan are approved.

A spokesman said: "We require four parking spaces but because of planning legislation it is classified as 16 as that is the minimum that can be applied for."

"We are currently picking people up from the station as it is so it won't make a big difference."

"Metro Cars would like a bigger portion of business from picking up customers at the station, so that is why we are moving."

The application was received by the council on June 30 who are currently consulting with the public. To view the plans visit <http://communitymap.harlow.gov.uk/fastweb/welcome.asp>.

Hospice diesel thief is jailed for 21 months

Jake Seaton, 22, was captured on CCTV

Court Reporter

star@hertsexnews.co.uk

A 22-YEAR-OLD man from Harlow who stole £1,600 of diesel from the St Clare Hospice leaving them without water has been jailed for 21 months.

Jake Seaton, of Barnmead, was arrested after CCTV still images were released by police but he claimed at Chelmsford Crown Court on Friday that it was a case of mistaken identity.

But after hearing evidence from facial mapping experts, jurors found him guilty after four hours of deliberation.

Despicable

Judge Anthony Goldstaub QC told Seaton, who denied the theft on May 12 last year: "It's difficult to think of a meaner or more despicable offence than to steal oil from vulnerable patients."

Raj Joshi, prosecuting, told the jury: "St. Clare is a charitable hospice tending ill people aged 18 and over with life limiting conditions.

"They get their power from diesel stored in a container and on May 12 the boiler stopped working and there was no water. An investigation revealed through CCTV a man siphoning the diesel.

"Pictures were enhanced and distributed to the media and Seaton was later arrested and taken into custody."

Seaton was distinguishable by his "hair and nose", PC Steve Bowering told the court.

However, Michael Edmonds, defending, pointed out his original statement had contained no reference to these factors.

Seaton declined to give evidence and in his closing speech Mr Edmonds, showing the jury pictures of the man caught on CCTV, asked: "Can you be sure it was the defendant?"

"Identification is an extremely dangerous area - miscarriages of justice on the basis of incorrect identification has become so common it is one of the most difficult areas for jurors."

Following the verdict Mr Edmonds applied for an adjournment for a pre-sentence report but Judge Goldstaub said there was "no point".

Suspended

Seaton had previous convictions involving six sentences for a total of 11 offences and he was under a suspended sentence at the time of the fuel theft and on bail.

Jailing him Judge Goldstaub said: "You were born in Harlow and had lived there all your life. Everybody from Harlow knows about the hospice where patients who are terminally ill go for care in the last days of their lives."

He said that it was "essential for their ease as they prepare to pass from this world to the next" that they were kept comfortable and added that the water and heating which was necessary for them was funded by charitable donations.

Duo build studio ahead of Geldof tour

FRIENDS Joe Turone and Sidney Brown will be heading off on tour with Sir Bob Geldof later this year and have been getting ready in a recording studio they built themselves.

Joe, 20, and Sidney, 18, have been combining school and university work with rehearsals in their DIY studio ahead of working with Sir Bob, who was introduced to their music by a family friend.

The duo are using every available second of their summer holidays inside the converted garden shed at Sidney's family home in Fold Croft, Harlow, which took two years to construct.

"We will be supporting him [Bob] for four dates in Clacton, Dorking, Preston and Swansea," said Joe, who recently finished a degree in Audio Engineering.

"He is a great guy and has been supporting us through the years we have been playing, but he's decided that we are ready and has invited us to play with him."

"It will be a great experience."

Sid and Joe, as the band are named, met through family friends and describe their style as

"semi-acoustic pop" that draws influence from hip-hop.

Sidney plays bass and piano alongside the guitar of Joe and both musicians sing.

They have posted a number of tracks on their YouTube channel since building the studio, aiming to release at least one new track each week.

"We can spend whole days in there," said Sidney. "As we're still working on the soundproofing we try and keep it quiet after 10pm."

"We've had no complaints as yet."

Pregnant horse in 'terrible state'

Named Twiglet due to emaciated state

Court Reporter

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MAN has admitted neglecting a pregnant horse so badly she was named Twiglet when found by the RSPCA as she was so hungry she was chewing a branch.

At Chelmsford Magistrates' Court on Monday, Aaron Gumble, 18, of The Sweyns, pleaded guilty to animal welfare offences concerning a black and white mare – including failing to address poor body condition and weight loss, not providing veterinary care for wounds on her back and not providing suitable environment, fresh drinking water or treating hooves.

He was disqualified from keeping horses for five years, given a 12-month community order involving 180 hours unpaid work, and made to pay £1,200 in costs.

The RSPCA was first called in December 2013 after concern had been raised about the horse, now called Twiglet, found on Harlow Common. She was tethered, and had no water, hay, and was in a very poor body condition.

Despite several attempts to advise the defendants on the horse's care she was again found in an emaciated condition by a Redwings officer in February and so was taken into possession by police on welfare grounds and placed into their care. At this stage she was four months pregnant.

An RSPCA inspector said: "Poor Twiglet was in a terrible state. She was emaciated with open infected wounds on her body which had not been treated, and was also extremely dehydrated."

"She was living in completely unsuitable conditions without food or water. She was given the name Twiglet because she so hungry when she was found, that she was eating a branch - the only food she could find."

"We had given a lot of advice and issued three advisory notices, yet the advice had not been heeded so we had no choice but to take her into care. We had to prosecute to prevent further horses from suffering."

Senior field officer Jo Franklin said: "Twiglet was in extremely poor condition when we found her. In fact she was so thin that we had no idea she was actually pregnant."

"Thank goodness we got to her when we did as she would never have had the nutrition she needed if we had left her where she was. She was brought to Redwings and in the September she gave birth to a healthy foal who we named Frazzle."

Can anyone help me find my friend Bob?

A WOMAN is appealing for help in her quest to trace long lost friend Bob, who she has not seen for 30 years.

Natalie Kaira, from Highbury, north London, has lost all contact with her friend and cannot remember his surname or any other details other than he used to live in Harlow.

She said: "Unfortunately I have lost all contact with Bob and the last time I saw him was with his wife in the 1980s."

"All I have is this picture of him as a young man, and he should be in his late 60s now. I drove to Harlow to find his parents' house, where I went in the 1980s.

"However, Harlow has changed so much in that time I had no luck finding it."

Mrs Kaira is currently on holiday, but will be continuing her efforts to track down Bob when she returns on August 4.

She said Bob, pictured left, is from Harlow but may also have lived in Barnet with his wife.

Mrs Kaira is unsure exactly when the photo was taken, but she estimates it to be from the early 1970s. If you have information about Bob or recognise the man in the image, phone Mrs Kaira on 0207 3590423 or 07401901190.

BASIL BRUSH

Harlow Playhouse
Sunday, July 26
£11-£13

He's back! TV's most popular and resilient fox, Basil Brush, returns to the Playhouse with his pal Mr Stephen (aka Chris Pizzey) from the hit children's series. Together they'll take the audience on a journey of laughs, storytelling and songs in a show packed with fun and excitement. Join in the mayhem and sing along during Basil's bedtime stories which, of course, seem to be interrupted quite often by the naughty Basil himself. Boom Boom!

STILL rocking after nearly 40 years, Buzzcocks are back in town with an intimate gig at The Square in Harlow in September.

But while many associate the band as being a relic from the British punk past, longstanding guitarist Steve Diggle said they still have plenty to say.

"It's not just old people remembering the past that come to see our shows," said Steve, "People come away from the show and they are inspired. That motivates us, this is what we started off doing and it's what we still do."

Despite the band's 1970s heyday coming before some of their fans were born, Buzzcocks shows have always attracted a youthful following and with the release of a new album the band have a fresh set list they can't wait to share.

"The new album is called The Way and is our first for eight years," said Steve of their critically-acclaimed eighth studio offering which was released through a self-funded campaign on Pledge Music.

While The Way offers comment on modern society and daring new styles, Steve said the hardcore fans won't be disappointed.

"The Way has elements of past albums but they all have a different scope and there is a track on there (written by Steve) called Third Dimension which really takes our sound to new areas.

"We have always had an experimental side as well as the pop side - which came through on our seven appearances on Top of the Pops back in the day.

"When you listen to the album it all makes sense and takes you on a journey"

New material is essential for a band whose diary is fuller than ever, with a relentless summer of gigs and festivals ahead.

While established outfits are often tempted to bombard a show with new material to plug a new record, the Bolton foursome have opted for a healthy mix of the old and the new.

Alongside the famous hits: Everybody's Happy Nowadays, Promises and the classic Ever Fallen in Love With Someone (You Shouldn't've Fallen in Love With), there will be tracks from The Way and the 2006 album Flat-Pack-Philosophy.

"We like to sprinkle the old and newer stuff in our set lists," explains Steve,

"Choosing a favourite album is like trying to choose a favourite child, we've done some classic albums and some not so goods too. We have over 250 songs, so obviously we can't please everybody.

"The band's show is better than ever and we are playing the best music we've ever made."

On the band's plans for the summer, Steve comments: "We have just done a festival in Spain and also played at Amnesia Festival at Portland in Oregon.

"We have done a lot of touring this year and have been right round Europe, we have been quite busy over there at the moment and there is a lot of shows coming up in Britain.

"We have just been to a really big festival and the Harlow gig will be much smaller by comparison, but it will be a homely one. It will be a good rocking show."

Part of the motivation to come back to Harlow's 250-capacity Square is for a last chance to play the Fourth Avenue venue before it closes its doors at the end of the year.

Despite the sheer number of concerts the band have played, Steve will always a place in his heart for The Square - which is a venue he has played with both Buzzcocks and as part of his solo tour a decade ago.

Ever fallen in love?

"We played there many years ago and I have fond memories of playing there. It is a great venue for the community.

"What we're seeing is very worrying. When so many of these places are closing down, it's kind of destroying our culture. Councils and the government are more interested in finance than art and nothing is in place to protect these centres."

Steve says a rock revival could be on the cards as people are "tired of being spoon fed by the industry".

His years in music have made him wise to the game, but not cynical and the band's continued success has largely been down to their hard work and dedication.

Along with lead singer Pete Shelley, Steve is one of two original members of Buzzcocks, with various moves and shakes happening around them throughout their history.

However, with drummer Danny Farrant and bassist Chris Remington, the band now have a stable travelling core and have dug their heels into the tough touring circuit.

With the band on the road since 1976, the real question is how they all stay motivated. But Steve says there is nothing more rewarding than the greatest job in the world.

"We are proud to inspire and put on a great show. It is an amazing feeling to hear of so many people saying they are inspired by what we have done."

"There have been so many over the years, everyone from U2 to REM and the Manic Street Preachers have been inspired by Buzzcocks. A lot of people have said that our music has changed their lives."

■ Buzzcocks will play at The Square on Saturday, September 19 with tickets costing £22. Bookings and more information can be obtained at: www.thesquareharlow.com

Arty Angela and Alan's new show

AN arty couple are looking forward to displaying their work for the world to see. Roydon residents Angela Godfrey and Alan Burgess will be displaying their differing styles of art in a free exhibition at Harlow's Gibberd Gallery.

The pair have lived together for almost 50 years, first moving to Roydon in 1968. There they honed their respective skills - Angela as a sculptor and Alan as a painter.

Angela received her first commission for a sculpture in 1964, when she was asked to get involved with the design for a church in St Albans.

Alan said: "She does all sorts really, mainly carving stone but recently she has begun using stainless steel."

Angela's success continued in 2014 when she was one of the sculptors chosen to provide works for the rebuilding of the Longford Cathedral in Ireland.

Alan added: "She has a gift to relate her work to specific locations, whether a nature reserve, a church interior or a building facade."

Alan, a former art teacher at the former East Herts College, himself paints and draws using oil paints, water colours and acrylics on a variety of canvases.

He said much of his work is inspired by the local area around his Essex home and his former workplace in Turnford.

His major exhibition, entitled Fifty Great British Trees, has toured the country, being on display all over the county and elsewhere, including The Tree Council in London.

The exhibition, inspired by the trees of Hatfield House, has also visited The Boxfield Gallery in Stevenage and Wimpole Hall.

Alan said that what links the pair's work is a love of trees and nature, with Alan displaying that outside art by becoming a keen conservationist.

The exhibition begins on Monday and will remain at the Civic Centre gallery until Friday, September 11.

The display is open between 9am and 4.45pm from Monday to Friday, with extra Saturday opening hours from 11am until 2pm from Saturday, August 8, until August 22.

Not quite

He's been working in Hollywood for two decades, but you're not alone if you don't know Paul Rudd's name - his Ant-Man co-star Michael Douglas had to Google him too. Susan Griffin talks to one of the industry's busiest - and funniest - underdogs about this slow-burning career

When it was announced that Paul Rudd was going to be playing the title role in Ant-Man, the latest addition to the ever expanding Marvel Cinematic Universe, the news was met with surprise.

"I knew they wanted to cast somebody that you would say, 'really?' Not somebody who seems unapproachable, but a guy you're going to be able to get into the story with," says the 46-year-old actor.

"I knew people might be questioning it, but I didn't," he adds. "But then again, I'm super arrogant."

Michael Douglas, who plays his mentor in the movie, has admitted he had to Google Rudd's name when he found out he'd been picked for the part, but then, despite toiling away for two decades and appearing in the likes of Friends and the Anchorman movies, Rudd hasn't fully become a household name. That might change now.

"You kind of cross that bridge when you come to it," says the actor, who has a son and daughter with his wife of 13 years, Julie.

"The only thing I've tried to make clear to my kids is that I love what I do, it's a great job, and it's very important in life to love what you do.

"They've grown up with people wanting to take selfies, asking for autographs or yelling something from a movie. It might become a little bit more intense [now], and if it does, it's gonna be a bummer," he adds. "You know, they're my life, and in the grand scheme of things, it [fame] is not really important, so I don't put too much importance on it."

Born to British parents in New Jersey, Rudd was raised in Kansas and made his acting debut in the TV series Sisters, before appearing in the 1995 classic Clueless, opposite a teenage Alicia Silverstone. He doesn't appear to have aged much since playing the hot stepbrother in the much-loved movie.

"That's nice of you to say," Rudd says, raising half a smile. "I see the difference, but I'm thrilled that you would think I have it."

Following roles in Romeo + Juliet and The Cider House Rules, he appeared alongside Bradley Cooper, Amy Poehler and Elizabeth Banks in the 2001 cult classic comedy Wet Hot American Summer.

Now the cast has reunited for a prequel to that film, which will soon be available on Netflix, and follows the counsellors and campers on their first day at Camp Firewood in the summer of 1981.

"All of us loved working on the movie very much," says Rudd. "We didn't think it was gonna be a big old hit, which it wasn't," he recalls, laughing. "But it's grown into kind of a cult status over the years."

The fact they're now appearing in a prequel, almost 15 years older than they were in the original, amuses him.

"We were too old to play those parts the first time round, so playing [even] younger just adds to the whole absurdity of it."

Given the cast are all busy juggling successful careers, he admits it was a logistical nightmare for the director, David Wain, to pull everything together.

"David really is a magician, he can film one person one day and then film another person a week later, and then he can edit it and you'd never know they weren't there [together]. It's seamless."

The original movie cost under a million US dollars to make, Rudd recalls, and it went in their favour that they were a group of unknowns at the time.

"Nobody knew who we were and nobody was paying any attention. That's why we got to make something with such a singular vision."

Whether it would be made now, he doesn't know.

"It would have a tougher time getting made, but then I think it's tough to get anything made."

A year after the film came out, Rudd was cast as hippie Phoebe's love interest in the hit US sitcom Friends. He was only supposed to appear in a couple of episodes, but the characters ended up marrying.

"You know, that was a trip, the whole thing seems like a blur to me," he says. "You can turn on the TV right now and it's probably playing on some channel and it plays in every country in the world."

"I was very aware, even then, thinking, 'more people will see this episode of this show than anything I've ever done combined, times a hundred.'"

Over the past ten years, he's worked with his close-knit group of friends - including Jason Segel, Adam McKay, husband and wife stars Judd Apatow and Leslie Mann - on a number of comic projects, such as Knocked Up, This Is 40 and The 40-Year-Old Virgin.

"It's one of the great things about having so many talented friends; they're always doing stuff, so there's a lot of cross-pollination happening."

"Like Forgetting Sarah Marshall," Rudd says, by way of example. "Jason said, 'Oh, we're gonna shoot this movie, will you come down and play this surfing instructor?' You say, 'Yeah totally', because it'll be fun."

It was the same with 2004's Anchorman, a comedy about a news team headed up by Will Ferrell's Ron Burgundy.

The team reunited for the sequel in 2013, which grossed over $170million worldwide.

"I don't really watch the movies that I've done, but Anchorman is on cable a lot and that's one where I will stop and watch for a few minutes because Ron Burgundy is just such a sublime creation."

He insists they've not had a conversation regarding a third movie.

"I wouldn't wanna...I don't know..." Judd says, faltering. "I have no idea. None of us are talking about it."

■ Ant-Man is in cinemas now. Wet Hot American Summer: First Day Of Camp is available on Netflix from Friday, July 31

Summertime with Gennaro

Salads and barbecues may be summer staples, but leave room on the menu for some Italian-inspired fare, TV cook Gennaro Contaldo tells Keeley Bolger

The sizzling weather might signal the start of holiday season for many of us, but while we slow down into relax mode, Italian cook Gennaro Contaldo is gearing up for another busy summer.

A great friend and mentor to Jamie Oliver, Contaldo is heavily involved in Oliver's Italian restaurant chain and has just released The Pasta Book – his second cookery title this year – which is tied in with the younger chef's online Food Tube channel. He's also appearing at The Sausage and Beer Festival at Jimmy's Farm on Saturday where he'll be doing a cooking demonstration.

It's hard work, but work he clearly loves.

"A chef will always be a chef, it doesn't matter what kind of weather it is," reasons the 66-year-old, who splits his time between London and Norfolk, with his wife Liz and their 11-year-old twin daughters.

"It's nice to have a rest in the summer, but summer is also a nice time in the restaurant. The market stalls are full of incredible fresh vegetables, fish, herbs... People walk around with a big smile on their faces. It makes you happy."

Contaldo – who tries to bat away being called a chef, preferring to refer to himself as a cook ("You can call me a chef when I am 100 years old. It is a chance for me to live longer") – was born on the Amalfi Coast and has been whipping up meals since he was nine years old, having been bitten by the foodie bug when he started helping out in his father's friend Alfonso's restaurant.

Frequently swapping recipes and tips with Oliver and his other great pal Antonio Carluccio, who he travelled around Italy with to film 2011 cookery series Two Greedy Italians, Contaldo's daughters have also felt the benefit of his wisdom, and learned to cook at a "very, very, very young age".

"At the age of seven, they could make their own risotto," he reveals proudly.

"They can go into a restaurant and choose whatever they like. They do that. I'm a cook you see, it's a part of the culture. You never know where they might be [later on in life], it's nice to know they will be able to make something to eat."

Even though their father will be within arm's reach of the kitchen this summer, the family will make plenty of trips to Norfolk, to relax in their 200-year-old cottage and enjoy the nearby seaside.

"I was born near the sea," Contaldo says. "The first thing I heard was the sea."

"The sea was my swimming pool and the beach

ENTHUSIASTIC: Gennaro Contaldo

was my playground. I do miss the sea. When I first came to England, the nearest place to see the sea was Brighton and I couldn't wait to go and run my fingers through it.

"It would transport me to my hometown, because the sea goes to every corner, every channel, everywhere. If I touch the sea, it is a touch to my home town. The sea is peace to me."

Although the sea is no longer in daily touching distance, Contaldo seeks solace in his plate, loading up on pasta dishes with plenty of fresh fish.

And rather than being stodgy and heavy, he insists that pasta is the perfect meal for summer.

"Summer pasta is good, everything is fresh and in season," he says.

"Use your imagination and think, 'I've got this nice ingredient, it will go well with the pasta and make a lovely marriage'. Just don't experiment too much.

"You can give it a go and say, 'You know what? Gennaro said it was good and he was right!'"

If you want to put Contaldo's boast to the test, try this summer pasta recipe from The Pasta Book.

Pasta Salad with Grilled Peppers and Olives

SUMMER FLAVOURS: Gennaro's pasta salad with grilled peppers and olives

Ingredients

2 peppers, mixed colours if possible
200g orecchiette pasta
Sea salt
1 firm tomato
12 black or green olives, stone in
2 sticks of celery, trimmed
½ a bunch of fresh flat-leaf parsley, leaves picked
4 sprigs of fresh basil, leaves picked
Extra virgin olive oil
Juice from 1 lemon

Method

Place the whole peppers on a griddle pan over a high heat (or under the grill) for about 20 minutes, or until blackened all over. Remove to a bowl, cover with cling film and cool.

Meanwhile, cook the orecchiette in a large pan of boiling salted water until al dente, then drain and refresh under cold water to stop it over-cooking. Scrape the blackened skin away from the cooled peppers, then deseed and chop the flesh into 1cm chunks.

Quarter the tomato, cut out the seeds and dice the flesh. Crush the olives with the palm of your hand, pull out and discard the stones, then tear in half.

Finely slice the celery, then put it all into a large bowl. Roughly chop and add the parsley leaves and most of the basil leaves.

Add the orecchiette to the bowl with four tablespoons of oil and half the lemon juice. Toss well with your hands, then season to taste with salt and a squeeze more lemon juice, if needed. Serve with a drizzle of oil and a scattering of the reserved basil leaves.

Meet your new veg

EVERY week we pick out a different object or theme and showcase some of the biggest, boldest and best around. This week we give you way more than the advised five a day as we pick a theme of vegetables.

YOU probably haven't ever thought that what your house needs is a pair of artichoke sculptures – but, if you have, here's the solution. Price: £172 from www.in-spaces.com

A VEGETABLE peeler with a difference – just make sure you don't accidentally put it in your son or daughter's pencil case as you send them off to school. Price: £11 from www.maidenshop.com/

WITH a design inspired by flowers in a meadow, this potato masher in the shape of a daisy also looks easier to wash up than most mashers. Price: £19 from www.clareloves.co.uk

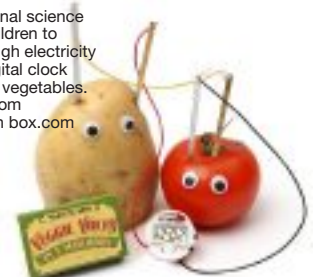

WE would probably suggest putting flowers in this vase inspired by cabbage leaves but a cabbage would probably balance nicely on the top too. Price: £40 from www.in-spaces.com

THIS personalised sign for the garden would make the perfect present for any green fingered family or friends. Price: £20 from www.noordinarygiftcompany.co.uk/

THIS educational science kit enables children to generate enough electricity to power a digital clock using just two vegetables. Price: £7.99 from www.inamatchbox.com

'...Happy To Talk about The Market Any Time...'

Had to visit the dentist on Wednesday, sign of old age when the tooth falls apart and the ancient filling stays in place!

So there I am, laying prostrate, almost upside down (what happened to the old fashion dentist chair when you sat upright?) my mouth full of padding and two of his fingers plus a very dangerous looking instrument that is about to cause me life threatening pain. So what does my dentist want to talk about, the property market of course!

You try nodding "yes" or "no" with a road drill in your mouth!

It's a privilege and flattering when people go out their way to chat to you about house prices "it's my favourite pass time looking through the The Star each week to see who is for sale" is the normal comment and I'm generally happy to chat, but there is a time and place even for a dentist. Just try saying to him "concentrate on your job!" with a mouth full of pain inducing kit!

On that point of "what's my house worth?" subject, I was down in Rye last week, what a beautiful town, so old world, anyway, I was talking with some friends (yes, about property prices) and I was asked "just how much is my 18th century former Oast house worth then?"

Stumped! I had to admit, I don't getting many Oast houses round here to sell so I politely said "I am a little rusty on that style of property around here in Harlow."

Finally, some of you commented about my remark about the spotty little creep who convinced our client to sell through his agency as he can get an extra £10k for them.

Well, I'm not sure if I am pleased or disappointed, but yes, the house is still For sale.....

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

We've got a great chance of quarters

FRIDAY night's NatWest T20 Blast win over Middlesex has really put us in good stead to get into the quarter-finals now.

Qualification is in our control, so it really was a much-needed and much-deserved victory.

To keep them down to 150 at Chelmsford was fantastic and that is never really a score that is going to be enough.

It gave our batsman a really good chance to go and win the game and they managed to do that pretty easily in the end.

I feel like the ball is coming out all right for me at the moment, but I am always looking to improve my game.

Hopefully, we can just back that performance up on Friday when we host South Group winners Kent at Chelmsford.

It is a massive game, there is no doubt about it.

They have been in good form as well, which will make it a very tough encounter.

However, we experienced this last year, as form sort of goes out of the window at this stage and it becomes a one-off game.

If we win we will progress, if we lose then we could well be out of the competition.

Overcome

It is almost a knockout game in itself, but I am confident that we can overcome Kent pretty easily.

They have been in a really good vein of form, but I think that we are a better side than them.

We have proved that over the times that we have played each other in the past, so I would still think that we are favourites, especially being at home.

It is a sold out match, so it is always going to have that great atmosphere that we need.

The opposition will be under a lot of pressure in the field, which I think you saw this week when Middlesex fielded.

The crowd get on the back of the opposition and build that extra bit of pressure that helps us along.

Like most people I did watch the Ashes this weekend.

England are playing with a lot of aggressive intent and there will be times that it doesn't come off, that is the nature of it.

I think that it is just one game and people are already talking about changing the side, which is complete nonsense in my opinion.

There are three more games and I am sure Adam Lyth and Gary Ballance will come good.

You can't just judge it on one game, and putting the blame on them is ridiculous.

I have a lot of confidence that they will do well in the games to come.

Westley being tipped as answer to Aussie threat

Kent's Key backs batsman for a top-order Test berth

by Sam Inkersole

star-sport@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ESSEX batsman Tom Westley says he's flattered to be linked with an England Ashes call-up but believes there are a few players ahead of him in the pecking order.

Westley, who has been part of the England Performance Programme, still harbours ambitions of playing for his country but also knows that he will have to bide his time.

On Tuesday, Kent club captain Rob Key led the calls for Westley to be the potential answer to England's Test match side's top-order problem.

This came after the 26-year-old smashed a superb 144 against the Aussies in a warm-up match earlier this month.

Mitchell Johnson wasn't playing, but Nathan Lyon, Mitchell Starc and Josh Hazlewood all were and Westley tore them apart.

Key, speaking after Essex's innings and 207-run County Championship defeat to Kent, said: "There is a lad at Essex called Tom Westley, who is a very good player."

"He doesn't have the stats that would jump off the page at you, but he is someone that should be being looked at [for the Ashes]."

Honour

Speaking after day two of Essex's County Championship clash with Kent at Tunbridge Wells, Westley said: "It's an honour to be mentioned for an England call-up, but there are plenty of players who are also in with a shout."

"There's James Vince at Hampshire, Jason Roy at Surrey, Jonny Bairstow at Yorkshire, all of them are really good players."

"There are a few options for England if they choose to make a few changes."

"I'd obviously love to be part of that but there's a few ahead of me."

"I think I have more of a chance of a one-day place than in the Test side right now."

"I want to keep scoring plenty of runs in that format first and in general for Essex.

"I had a good turn against the Aussies, that was one of my best innings at Chelmsford."

"They had a strong attack out and I coped pretty well with it, but I am still learning."

Essex face a win-or-bust clash at Chelmsford in the NatWest T20 Blast South Group on Friday night when Kent are the visitors.

The Spitfires have already qualified for the knockout stages of the tournament as South Group winners and for the Eagles, nothing less than a win will do.

Westley can't wait for the game, adding: "The fans at Chelmsford are the best in the country, it'll be a great occasion."

"We often play our best cricket when our backs are against the wall. But, we are confident we can beat Kent at Chelmsford, being at home is always an advantage."

The Eagles will be without Liam Dawson, however, who was recalled by Hampshire from his loan spell.

Dawson, who played four games for Essex, returns to the South Coast county having made a good impact during his time at The Essex County Ground, scoring 99 against Glamorgan in the LV= County Championship.

Head Coach Paul Grayson said: "We're disappointed to lose Daws, but we totally understand the reasons."

"In the short time with us, it was hopefully good for his form and he made a good contribution for us as well."

"We wish him all the best for the rest of the season."

However, Essex have brought in young Middlesex off-spinner Ravi Patel on a short-term loan.

The 23-year-old will join Essex for the next two LV= County Championship matches.

Grayson was pleased with the move, saying: "Ravi is one of the best young spinners in the country just now. However, he's not playing much cricket at the moment and I would like to thank Middlesex for making the loan signing possible."

Chairman Irani gives verdict on head coach

ESSEX'S new cricket committee chairman Ronni Irani feels that the Eagles have "underachieved" in the last few years and has given his thoughts on the future of head coach Paul Grayson.

The former club captain and England batsman (pictured left) took over the role from Graham Saville on Friday.

Pressed on whether he believed Grayson was still the right man to lead Essex forward, Irani said: "At this moment in time Paul is the head coach and we have to respect that position until the cricket committee decide on anything different."

"We have a meeting in August, where I am sure that the decision will be made on not just Paul's future but the future of certain players as well."

"There is a lot to go on but hopefully we will be going onwards and upwards."

The 43-year-old believes that the talent in the dressing room is not shining through on the field.

Irani said: "Being chairman is a massive role, one where you step up and make decisions that are best for the club."

"We have an immensely talented group of individuals and it is fair to say that at this moment in time we have underachieved in the last seven or eight years."

"We are still talented and it is great to see young players coming through like Nick Browne, Tom Westley and Jamie Porter."

"We have to make sure we keep doing that, while getting Essex back to the level that we were in years gone by, knocking on doors and trying to win trophies."

"We have to be better in all formats of the game and we have good enough cricketers to do that."

"These players want to do better and want to improve."

"None of them just turn up, take the money and play a game of cricket."

"They want to achieve success by winning games of cricket, which we haven't done in recent times. If you sign up as a professional cricketer at Essex you should be good enough in all departments."

"You have to be good enough in all formats of the game."

"That is what I believe and we set out to win every single game of cricket, in any format or any style."

Centuries in vain in Ard day's work for Town

Shepherd Neame Essex League, Division Two
Harlow Tn 307-6
Ardleigh Green 308-4
Ardleigh won by six wickets

TWO Harlow Town players grabbed centuries, but still could not prevent their side from losing at home to basement boys Ardleigh Green on Saturday.

Joe Holland hit a magnificent 122 and Ramya Upadhyay joined him in the run feast with 109.

But their failure to take wickets meant Ardleigh climbed off the bottom and are now just 33 points adrift of third-from-bottom Town.

Skipper Neil Gladwin said: "It was great to see Ramya carry on his fine form and with Joe scoring his first hundred for the club, we should have won this game at a canter.

"The bowlers tried hard, but with the wicket so flat, anything off line was punished."

Winning the toss, Harlow Town elected to bat first.

Dan Baldwin, replacing the unavailable Shiraz Ali, departed quickly.

Ashley Alderson went for 23 after a stunning catch from Choudry Mahboob.

Holland and Upadhyay then came together for a wonderful 223-run third-wicket partnership.

Upadhyay showed his flicks, punctuated by cover driving, while Holland's back foot cutting, driving and pulling meant the bowlers had to change their lengths to the two players.

Both players deserved to reach three figures and both did, safely negotiating the mid 90s to make sure they reached their milestones.

The pair fell in the last five overs as Town reached 307-6 in their allotted 50 overs.

In reply, Ardleigh came flying out of the blocks, hitting 21 in the first over.

Opener Paul Hurworth, with the support of Alex Cason and Ayaz Younis, plundered 110 off the first ten overs, leaving their required run rate at a little under five.

Upadhyay found the leading edge of Hurworth's bat when on 74, but captain Gladwin let the simple chance fall from his grasp.

It was a match-changing moment.

Town battled on, picking up four wickets, but Hurworth finished on an unbeaten 137.

The visitors rounded off their victory with four overs and six wickets to spare.

Gladwin added: "The dropped catch by myself was absolutely crucial. If that had been taken I have no doubt that we would have pushed on and claimed the victory.

"For someone who sets the standards for myself and my team-mates so high, to make such a basic error in dropping that catch is hard to take.

"I apologised to the boys in the changing room, but it's of no consolation. We need to pick ourselves up and head to Belhus on Saturday.

"Our future is still in our own hands and we need to ensure that we pick up enough points to maintain our position in this league."

Depleted team smash personal bests galore

Top times flow from club's hard-working junior athletes

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsexnews.co.uk

A DEPLETED Harlow Athletic Club team still shattered personal bests by the dozen in the penultimate round of fixtures in the Eastern Young Athletes League.

Jarman Park in Hemel Hempstead, was the venue for the meeting.

In the U13 girls' events, Martyna Jakstaite was third in the 70m hurdles in a personal best (PB) time of 13.5sec.

She then followed this up with a PB of 3.84m in the long jump, adding 35cm to her previous best.

In the 100m, Ella McFarlane set a PB of 14.2 and claimed second in the B race.

Her training partner, Maye Ukuti, was a fraction outside of her best time and was sixth in the A race.

Excellent

In the middle distance events, Charlotte Pratt picked up an excellent second place in the 800m and Grace Malcolm smashed her PB in the 1500m to secure fourth place with 6min 07.6sec, ten seconds better than her previous mark.

There were some good performances, too, for the U13 boys.

Regan Lawrence took first in the 75m hurdles in a time of 14.2. Ethan Seal had a memorable club debut as he picked up third in the 800m in a very good time of 2:33.08.

Sam Sloan took second in the B race and Ben Sloan, making his first appearance since a nasty injury at Chelmsford, was third in the javelin with a throw of 17.73m.

The theme of strong performances continued in the U15 age group and also provided the day's highlight for Harlow.

Ami Ashby and Claudia Andrews both set PBs in the 100m and with an identical time of 14.6.

Both were fifth in the A and B races respectively.

The pair then bettered their 200m PBs, with 30.1 and 30.3 respectively.

Lottie Rowedder took a second off her PB and was second in the 1500m in the process (5:10.01).

Aidan Proctor was making his first appearance since injury and lowered his 100m PB by a tenth of a second. He picked up two third place finishes in the A 100m (12.7) and 200m (26.3).

Dominique Diomande equalled his best 100m time (12.2).

In his first competitive outing at 200m he clocked 26.1.

In the A 80m hurdles, Teale Cunningham ran 13 seconds flat for second.

In the long jump he recorded 5.23m to win.

The Harknett brothers, Owen and Lewis, had good days too.

Lewis was second in the 800m and shaved two seconds off of his PB (2:15.00).

Owen was third in the A 1500m (4:41.06) and ran his fastest time of the season to date for the distance.

Diomande, Cunningham, Proctor and Owen Harknett then got together to run the 4x100m relay.

They won by two seconds, a considerable amount in sprint terms, clocking 50.1.

The time catapulted the boys into the top 100 times nationally for their age group (U15).

There were only four U17 men and women but they performed well.

Katie Champion ran her best time of the season to date in the 800m, taking fourth place (2:33.07).

Jordan Sheridan was fourth in both the long and triple jumps.

Christian Barker was an impressive fourth in the 1500m and Jacob Juniper made his league debut with two fifth-place finishes in the 100m and 200m, posting decent times.

Harlow AC juniors coach Steve Lott said: "It's great that the small number who turned out picked up so many PBs. However, once again it's disappointing that we couldn't mobilise more youngsters.

"You can imagine my frustration when the Basildon team manager remarked to me after the U15 boys' relay win that if we could get organised we could be a force.

"It's something we've believed as coaches, and known perhaps, for a long time."

The youth team complete their league season when they take part in the final event at Cophall Stadium, Barnet, next month.

Sides dropping down will make league hard

Derby start but Hawks boss expects tough campaign

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertssexnews.co.uk

WITH the likes of Hornchurch, Bury Town and Witham Town dropping down to the Ryman North, Harlow Town boss Danny Chapman is convinced the division will be much tougher next season.

The fixtures were released last Thursday and Chapman knows a repeat of the Hawks' 100-point barrier smashing campaign last season will be a huge act to follow.

Harlow will enjoy a local derby at home to Cheshunt on the opening day of the season on Saturday August 8.

It's sure to be a feisty affair as former Hawks manager Glen Alzapiedi has added former Harlow reserve boss Paul Wickenden to his coaching staff.

Wickenden has brought with him several Waltham Abbey players, where he was manager up until last season.

Big crowd

Chapman said: "Hopefully there will be a big crowd for the start of the season. We would like to get a few people through the door."

Next up for Harlow is Wroxham away on Tuesday August 11 and this is the third successive season Chapman's men have faced a long midweek trip to the Norfolk club, something that has not pleased the Hawks manager.

The likes of Heybridge Swifts, Thurrock and AFC Sudbury will be strong, while even newly-promoted Haringey Borough will provide a test says Chapman.

With the likes of club record goalscorer Alex Read, midfielders Fabion Simms and Dave Cowley, plus talented left-back Layne Eadie agreeing to stay, Harlow have kept the core of last season's squad which missed out on promotion despite finishing nearly 20 points ahead of the team that won the play-off final, Brentwood Town.

RETURN: Paul Wickenden (left) has switched to Cheshunt after leaving Waltham Abbey, and will face Danny Chapman (right) on the opening day of the Ryman North season

Chapman said: "The goal is to get promoted, there's no point looking back [at last season]."

"But it will be much harder next season, with Hornchurch, Bury and Witham coming down. Haringey have come up and I don't know much about Phoenix Sports."

"We always start out to try and win the league. As a manager the play-offs have not been very kind to me."

Chapman has now lost three times in the play-offs as boss, with his only success coming in the 2006-07 season when the former central defender played in Harlow's successful team which went up to the Ryman Premier Division after beating AFC Sudbury.

Along with those already retained, Chapman has kept strikers Leon Antoine and Junior Dadson, centre-half Marc Gorbell, right-back Robbie Martin and winger Jerod Small.

"I have maintained most of the squad," he said.

The Hawks boss has been impressed with the progress of centre-half Sam Holloway from a double leg break in the league match at Thurrock in February.

"He has done superbly to get back," said Chapman.

Chapman is planning to move Craig Pope from right-back to centre-half next season. "I still think we need a centre-half, and we are in the market for a central midfielder, a Simms sort of player," he said. "He [Simms] gives us that physical presence."

The Hawks suffered a heavy 5-0 home loss to Vanarama National League South side Concord Rangers on Saturday.

Ex-Harlow player Bertie Brayley was among the scorers.

Ben Greenhalgh, Tony Stokes (2) and Louis Taaffe also netted.

On Tuesday new signing Omer Riza scored for Harlow in a 3-1 win away to South Midlands League side Hertford Town.

Former Arsenal striker Riza, who has played professional football in the Turkey top division, was player-manager at Cheshunt for part of last season.

Other scorers were Cowley and Antoine.

Harlow host VCD Athletic at 3pm on Saturday.

They are away to Sawbridge-worth Town on Tuesday night.

Chapman takes his side to Brentwood Town, who won the Ryman North play-off final last season, on Saturday August 1, before the league season starts.

OH BROTHER: Owen and Thomas Lambert celebrate after their medal success at the Littleport Open tournament

Brothers win Green medals

SILVER and bronze medals were won by two brothers representing Harlow Judo Club at the Littleport Green Belt & Under Open event held in Cambridgeshire.

Owen Lambert, nine, and Thomas Lambert, 13, fought superbly to return with medals.

It was a tough competition, with Owen narrowly missing out on the gold after going through a gruelling eight-minute final round.

Thomas battled hard against other players graded much higher than him, having only lost to the eventual winner but he secured a bronze in the compound knockout stage.

No ordinary Joe in victory

HARLOW'S second team picked up a narrow victory over Stanford-le-Hope in the Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League.

Jeff Wiltshire (55) played well as Harlow scored 196, putting on 96 for the fifth wicket with Joe Riddell 3-20.

Stanford crumbled to 102-7. The tail waggled, but they were finally bowled out for 169 (Joe Riddell 3-20).

The third team (202) Lloyd Sykes (105) won their top-of-the-table clash at Chelmsford (115).

The fourth team (247-8) had a top win against Chelmsford (80). Tyler Dobson finished with 6-30 in his 11 overs.

The fifths lost by five wickets to Epping Foresters.

■ HARLOW Town's seconds (202) Jason Gladwin 78 from 47 balls) lost by 132 runs against Old Souths (334-3).

Town face a real relegation crunch match at fellow strugglers Belhus on Saturday.

England debut for Canaan

ATHLETE Canaan Solomon claimed a gold medal when he represented England for the first time on Saturday.

The Mark Hall School student competed in Glasgow, where the England U17 side took on Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland in a home international meeting.

England won the meeting overall.

Canaan, 16, who is a member of Woodford Green & Essex Ladies Athletic Club, won when he was a member of the successful 4x400m relay team.

He also ran fourth in his individual 800m race, where he clocked a time of 1min 57.01sec.

Starlets step up to men's game

TEENAGERS Alex Dodd and Alex Curaba got a taste of the step up to men's tennis when they competed in an Essex tournament.

The Harlow Tennis Club duo were invited to participate in the Leo Lyle doubles at Thorpe Bay, which is a men's doubles competition for existing and prospective Essex county men's players.

The event is named after Leo Lyle, who was a famous men's doubles player at Wimbledon in the 1920s.

In their first match, 16-year-old Dodds, who completed his GCSEs at Stewards School in June, and his playing partner Curaba, 15, beat Peter French, 33, and Mark Klein, 28, in a marathon match (6-2, 3-6, 14-12).

In their second they lost 7-6, 6-2 to Harry Randle, 22, and David Tubbs, 36, in a very close encounter, which meant on points the boys progressed to the semi-final on day two.

The following day the weather conditions were more adverse in a complete contrast to the sun and light breeze on day one, with a strong wind on the exposed Thorpe Bay sea front courts and overcast skies.

The Harlow duo found it hard in the conditions and lost their semi 6-4, 6-2 against Dave Wright, 22, and Richard Barham, 37, in another close match.

"Overall the boys played extremely well competing against seasoned and mature opponents and playing some inspirational winners," said

Harlow Tennis Club spokesman Richard Stingemore.

In their final match, Dodds and Curaba took part in the third/fourth place play-off but lost in a very tight match (6-4, 2-6, 8-10) to James Caddies, 16, and Lewis Thompson, 20.

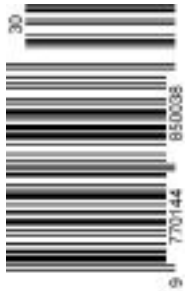

The overall winners of the competition were Harry Randle and David Tubbs who beat Dave Wright and Richard Barham in a close final.

"It was an excellent competition arranged by Jamie Willson and Graham Ray from ECLTA," added Stingemore.

"Thanks also to Harlow LTC coaches Will Calvert and Luke Spooner who have enabled the Harlow juniors to progress to this level of county tennis competition."

KHAW, BLIMEY WHAT A MATCH!

Club history is made as biggest run chase ends in win

by Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertssexnews.co.uk

Shepherd Neame Essex League, Division One
Harlow 372-8
Hutton 371-6
Harlow won by two wickets

MARIGOLDS skipper Rehman Ahmed hailed his side, and in particular batsman Ahmed Khawaja, as they completed the biggest run chase in the club's history.

Chasing what appeared an insurmountable 371-6 from Hutton, the hosts reached the target with two balls to spare.

An incredible 743 runs was scored in a match, which finished at 7.40pm.

At the heart of it was the unbeaten 158 from Khawaja (pictured right) off just 113 balls, including 17 fours and four sixes. In a thrilling climax with ten needed off the final over, he struck a four, ran two and then struck a four from the third-from-last ball to seal victory.

Marigolds captain Rehman said: "In the club's history it was the biggest ever chase.

"We were providing support but no one was hanging around. The way he shepherded the tail was fantastic."

After winning the toss, Hutton asked Harlow to field in hot and dry conditions, with the Marigolds pitch being a batsman's paradise.

Hutton captain Hanuma Vihari, who plays for Sunrisers Hyderabad in the Indian Premier League, opened the batting and scored 187 runs from just 109 balls.

Luke Monger clean bowled Daniel Hagger for six, while Mustanser Meraj claimed opener Alex Tredgett's wicket lbw.

This brought ex-Harlow professional, Usman Jan to the crease.

Vihari and Usman (32) went on to build a quick-fire third-wicket partnership of 94, before Usman was caught sweeping to the boundary off the bowling of Ross Vasani.

Vihari then built a 105-run partnership with Jack Plom (25).

The Indian was finally dismissed when caught on the mid-wicket boundary by Khawaja off the bowling of Meraj at 280-5.

But Stuart Feeley (34no) and Gregory Spire (41) forced up the Hutton total.

Monger was the pick of Harlow's bowlers with 2-67 from ten overs.

In reply, Harlow opener Alan Jones was caught behind first ball.

Rehman (65) and opener Hafiz Yawar (51) put on 90, but the skipper, faced with such a huge target, confessed he was told "just treat it as a net session" knowing victory was highly unlikely.

Yawar then departed for the second match running through a run out.

Cometh the hour

But cometh the hour, cometh the man.

Khawaja and Rehman rapidly put on 50, but after the captain was dismissed, the only other contribution came from Monger (32).

But from 151-3 Khawaja refused to throw in the towel.

With some assistance from Monger, he took the tally up to 280-6.

He was particularly harsh on the Hutton spinners to take the hosts ten short with six balls left.

Khawaja cut the first ball for four through point, the second ball was pulled to deep mid-wicket for two, the third was blocked and the fourth pulled again, but this time into the gap for four to signal huge Harlow celebrations.

Skipper Rehman added: "Khawaja can be a bit hit and miss sometimes, but when it comes off he is fantastic. He was absolutely superb."

The captain is convinced his side can still finish fourth, although they now face the top four sides on the trot, starting with second-placed Southend away on Saturday.

They are also missing bowler Luke Heskett (broken toe) and batsman Jon Perry (unavailable), but bowler Nicky Baxter returns after his stag do last weekend, ahead of his wedding later this summer.

Rehman added: "This will give us confidence and we need it with these four games coming up."

"I believe we are a lot better than the rest and I still think we can finish fourth or fifth. But it will be a tough game on Saturday."

Harlow remain just 25 points off the relegation spots in a very tight division.

Leopards will return to the Leisurezone

LEVETT Essex Leopards will return to Harlow Leisurezone for a second season of National Basketball League action as they continue their partnership with Harlow Hawks.

The Big Cats won all eight games at the Second Avenue venue last season and will stage nine games there next term.

The action starts on Saturday September 12 (tip-off 7.15pm), with a visit from Lakenheath Lakers for a pre-season game.

The American air-base side faced the Big Cats at the Brentwood Centre last September with Essex winning a thriller 72-68, and the game should provide a good test for Steve Ogunjimi's team.

With a slightly earlier than usual tip-off, the game will be played with four 12-minute periods rather than the usual ten-minute quarters in order to give Ogunjimi more time to look at his squad.
